Grand Jurors Urge Removal Of Traung

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company the other day announced the rental of an interesting device for the hard of hearing.

* * * *

By the use of a miniature sound amplifier on her telephone, a woman who is so deaf that she can barely hear her friends in the room, may listen to a telephone conversation with ease.

* * * *

The miniature amplifier is tuned up or down, like a radio, for the right volume of sound in the telephone receiver.

* * * *

Its principle is similar to the radio, but instead of using vacuum tubes, it has a single "peanut" tube, one of the tiniest in existence.

Some of you visitors in California might take heed to the warning broadcast by the state division of motor vehicles the other day.

* * * *

Within ten days after landing in the state, visitors should apply for a visitor's license, which is good for a period of six months.

* * * *

If he fails to get this permit, he must obtain a California auto license within 30 days or be compelled to pay double for it.

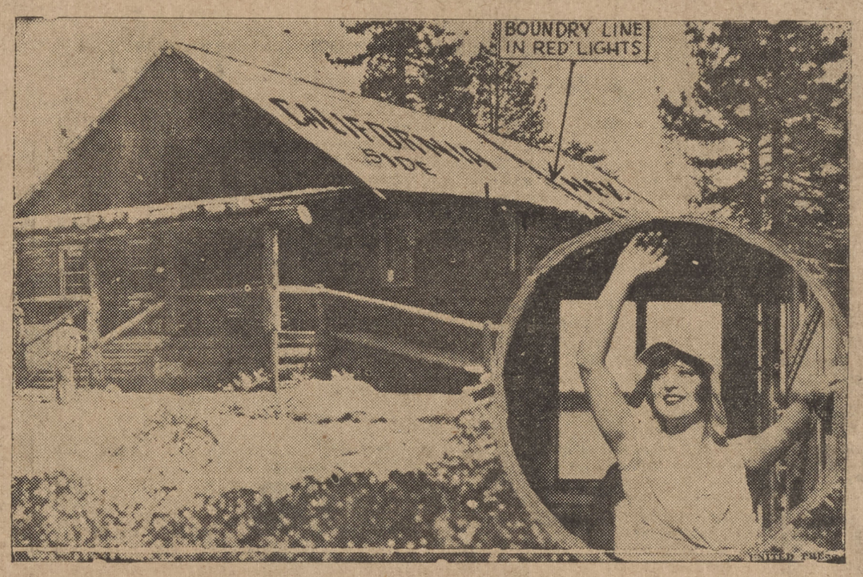
* * * *

There are few states that are as liberal as California in its visitor's license.

* * * *

In six months one should be able to see most of the beauty spots of this state and to get a fair sample of its climate.

Who Says The Woman Pays



CLARA BOW, the fiery "It" girl, should be lucky in love if the old adage runs true to form. She lost $13,900 at the gambling tables of Calneva Lodge, Lake Tahoe, and then had payment on checks she gave the proprietors stopped because she alleges she was given 50-cent pieces to play with without knowing that each of them represented $100. The lodge straddling the California-Nevada line is shown above.

BARRING OF TOBY IRWIN ASKED

SAN FRANCISCO, tSept. 26—In a sweeping investigation into prize fighting in the state of California, a special grand jury late today drafted a resolution requesting the governor to dismiss C. F. Traung, state athletic commissioner, and to permanently bar Toby Irwin as a fight referee.

The jury is investigating the deaths of two men who were killed in San Francisco prize rings.

The request for the ouster of Traung, according to members of the jury, was based upon his own admission on the stand that he was obliged to a man financially interested in Dreamland auditorium, and upon the manner in which Traung permitted the fatal Baer-Campbell fight to be conducted.

On Stand

Traung, however, would not admit that the Baer-Campbell fight had been conducted crookedly, but the concensus of opinion of the Grand Jury was that Traung was not competent to hold his position, it was said.

Irwin's tactics in the fight between Max Baer and Frankie Campbell, in which Campbell was killed, was the basis of the recommendation for the barring of the referee.

C. E. Working, manager for Campbell, told the jury that Irwin was selected by Traung over the strenuous objection of both Campbell and himself, and that Irwin failed to stop the bout when Baer fouled him in the second round.

Working contended that the alleged foul blow in the second was directly responsible for Campbell's death.

Traung Scored

In his testimony Working declared, "All Irwin had to do was to come between the fighters (after the blow was struck) and stop the fight. The fight game in San Francisco is rotten. Traung, Irwin and others all stand together to run the fight racket to suit themselves."

The resolution continues in part: "Selection of certain refrees is subject to severe criticism. Decision may be said to be based more upon the desire to increase gate receipts for the clubs involved and profits for gamblers rather than to do justice to the fighters themselves."

"There is evidence that the professional boxing 'racket' so called, is not cleanly conducted, and is not worthy of the support or adherence of clean sportsmanship. The conduct of boxing matches is prostituted by the alliance therewith of gambling cliques."

APE BOY IN DENIAL OF CONFESSIONS

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Sept. 26.—UP—Prison authorities claimed tonight that Gordon Stewart Northcott, convicted for killing several small boys in Riverside county, had made another attempt today to 'feign insanity."

Warden James B. Holohan, disclosed that Northcott had denied the confessions he had made repeatedly for a week, the latest one being Thursday, that he killed 16 men and hid their bodies in Riverside county.

Northcott is to be transferred from "death row" to the small cell adjoining the execution chamber early next week and Governor C. C. Young has declined to interfere to stop his hanging, scheduled for next Thursday.

The condemned youth denied his "confessions" during an interview with his father, Cyrus Northcott, and his spiritual adviser, the Rev. Larry Newgent.

He was questioned by the two older men about his statement and two maps he drew purporting to show where he had hidden the bodies of his 16 "victims."

"I don't know anything about it,' Northcott answered them. 'Did I make a confession?.'

PROSECUTOR SCORED BY COURT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—UP—Alexander Pantages, who emerged from the Alaskan gold field to become one of the country's best known vaudeville circuit owners, was granted a new trial today on his conviction of attacking Eunice Prengle, 17-year old dancer.

The order was made by the district court of appeals, to which the showman turned after the superior court had refused him a rehearing.

Three appellate justices held that the state attorney's had been guilty of prejudical error. It was held further thae evidence of unchastity in the case of a minor should be permitted as it would be just as damaging in the minds of jurors as in the case of an adult.

Fitts Mum

District Attorney Buron Fitts refused to comment on the decision, but it was presumed that he would be prepared to prosecute the case again.

The judgement does not become final for at least two days and perhaps 30. The state has ten days to petition and appellate court for a rehearing and, if refushed, seven days in which to petition the state supreme court. The respondent would have four days to answer and the court four days to consider and additional time in which to prepare its announcement.

Under any condition, a conviction would have been the required verdict if the attack really did occur, as Miss Pringle was 18 years of age, but the court, in its ruling, held that possible lack of virtue should have been permitted as defense testimony for the purpose of showing that certain statements made by Miss Pringle were impossible.

Statement Made

Among the closing statements by District Attorney Buron Fitts that were held objectionable were: "I say to you, with all the candor God put into me that they have no evidence and they knew it before they came here. They emplanted the seed of innuendo and indirection in your mind. A

G. O. P. Party Leader Quits

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 26.—UP—Victor Seymour resigned late today as assistant western Republican senatorial campaign manager.

His resignation was a result of testimony before the Nye senatorial campaign funds committee that he promoted the candidacy of grocer George W. Norris to run against Senator George W. Norris, Ind., Rep., of Nebraska, in the recent primary in the state.

He sent the following telegram to Senator Steiwer, Rep., Oregon, western senatorial campaign manager:

"From press reports my name has been drawn into a controversy in Nebraska arising previous to the recent primary in that state in a way which may be used by the opposition unfavorably against your committee.

"While I am absolutely innocent of any wrong act and my motives have been honest and prompted only by a desire to do what I thought would be for the best interest of the people as a whole, yet I realize that the publicity which has been given the matter may be used by political enemies unfavorably against the party.

"Republicans generally throughout the entire territory included in the western division are ready and willing to give you and the committee as well as all Republican nominees their hearty, loyal and active support.

"I have always been loyal to our party and its nominees and shall continue to be, and am too good a Republican to stand even inferencially in the way of success of the ticket.

"I am therefore tendering to you my resignation as your assistant in the conduct of the campaign, same to receive consideration at your convenience."

Clara May Face Suit For Debts

RENO, Nev., Sept. 26.—UP—Attorneys representing the owners of Calneva, expensive resort near Lake Tahoe on the California-Nevada boundary line, indicated tonight that they might be able to persuade Clara Bow, motion picture star, to order payment on her checks for $13,600, which is $300 less than the amount she lost on games of chance at the resort.

"We have a case," William Woodburn, an attorney representing James McKay, manager of the Calneva gambling house, said.

"Only $300 was in direct payment for gambling losses," Woodburn claimed. "The other three checks were cashed before Miss Bow gambled, I am informed, and therefore can be collected in court."

The courts of Nevada have not recognized checks made after losses at gambling, although gambling is permitted here under state law.

The local attorneys contend that if Miss Bow cashed checks and then bought chips with the money, the checks would be held valid in court and there was therefore possibility of a compromise with Miss Bow to make such action unnecessary.

Attack Made On Facism

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Sept. 26.—UP—A violent attack on Fascism as a European war menace and charges of terrorism and "butchery" in Italy were made today by internationally prominent Italian exiles and a Belgian senator testifying in behalf of Fernando Deorsa, youthful Italian on trial for the attempted assassination of Crown Prince Humbert of Italy.

The witnesses, who included Francesco Nitti, twice premier of Italy, and Senator Louis de Brouckere, Belgian socialist, attempted to show that acts committed under the regime of Premier Benito Mussolini were responsible for Derosa's attack on the prince here last October.

De Brouckere, who has made an extensive study of central European conditions, charged that military activities of Fascism in Italy had created a great danger of war between Germany and Jugo-Slavia and France. Jugo-Slavia is an ally of France. Recently Mussolini has adopted a policy of warm friendship toward Germany. The Jugoslavs and Italians have long been bitterly antagonistic because of territorial settlements after the world war.

So determined was the attack of the defense on Fascism that it overshadowed the impassioned appeal of Deorsa's lawyers.

"This trial is Fascism, not Deorsa," exclaimed one of the defense attorneys in his address to the court. "The verdict must not injure liberty."

The lawyer said the defendant pleaded guilty because "he does not want to be considered a coward among his friends."

McVITTIE AT MEET

Sessions of the International City Managers' association convention being held at the Palace hotel, San Francisco, this week was attended by City Manager J. A. McVittie.

LOCAL TENNIS PLAYERS IN MATCHES

When the forty-first Pacific coast championship tennis tournament gets under way at Berkeley today, there will be a thick sprinkling of Richmond athletes in the tourney entries.

Richmond will be represented by 11 racquet wielders, all of whom are expected to serve creditably in today's contests.

The 15 year boys' class will probably be the most important competition of the day as far as Richmond is concerned. In this division, Clarence Garibotti, 15 year-old captain of the Longfellow tennis team, will meet Jay Cohn, national boys' champion and seeded number one player. If Garibotti defeats Cohn, he will win the right to tangle with Donald Budge, California state champion. Garibotti has drawn, by reason of his flash and determination, the praise of "Pop" Fuller, who coached Helen Wills to fame.

In the 18 year junior boys' class, James Hurley, north coast interscholastic champion, will participate as seeded player number eight. Phil Carlin, ranking player of the Richmond Tennis club, will also compete in division for boys under 15. Carlin was a finalist in the under 15 class in this year's state tournament. He will meet Joseph Hunt.

In the boys' division, Johnny Stark, ranking number eight player on the coast, James Butler, and Adrian Newman, and Alden Pratt will also participate. Stark will play against Ralph Reed at 8:30 o'clock. Butler will meet Victor Barfield, and Adrian Newman will play Harold Goldman. Alden Pratt will battle Peter Meyers. This is Pratt's first tournament.

Darrow Sutton of the 18-year old class will meet Leslie Haeffner at play Fred Meyers at the same time.

Hurley and Carlin will also participate in the state junior doubles and will meet Fred Meyers and C. Bernthal. Sutton and Adrian Newman of this city will clash with Wilmer Trainer and Jack Cosgrove number one seeded doubles team in this class.

Helen Dunning, Richmond Union High school girl, will play Alice Cooper in the girls' singles, 16-year old class. Sylvia Seawright and Jennie Stark, both of Richmond, will compete with each other in this division.

In the girls doubles, Miss Dunning and Sylvia Seawright will tangle with Janet Ronneberg and Muriel Silver.

Many of the oustanding tennis players of the country will take part in this year's Pacific coast tournament.

Helen Wills Moody will meet Walter Honsberger of the Berkeley Tennis club at 3 o'clock in an exhibition match.

George Lott of the Davis Cup team and doubles partner of Johnny Doeg, American singles champion, will be seeded number one visitor in today's tourney, and will meet Sidney LeField of San Francisco. Sidney Wood of New York drew Wallace Bates of Berkeley and a finalist in the present Contra Costa county championship tournament. Cliff Sutter of New Orleans meets Edmund Levy of San Francisco. Bruce Barnes of Texas will play Ray Greenberg of San Francisco. Ivan Malcolmson of Oakland will meet Wilmer Allison of Texas. Bill Olney of Berkeley drew Gilbert Hall of New Jersey and Berkeley Hall of Texas will meet Gail Warwick of San Francisco, a frequent player on Richmond courts. Ray Johnson of Berkeley was drawn by Johnny Van Ryn of New Jersey. Ed Chandler, California champ, will meet Gordon Jason, of San Francisco.

The matches will be played on the courts of the Berkeley Tennis club.

RICHMOND ELK GOLFERS LOSE TO BERKELEY

The golfers of the Richmond lodge of Elks yesterday went down to defeat before the invading Berkeley antlers in the annual fall inter-lodge golf tourney. Berkeley gained possession of the cup by a margin of three points.

Ernest Durant, Richmond golfer and assistant manager of the Giant Powder company, won first prize in the tourney.

William Rogers of Berkeley captured second prize.

Henry W. Creeger of Richmond, manager of the Standard Sanitary company, was winner of third place in the tourney.

Approximately 40 lodgemen from Richmond participated in the event. Competition was fast and close, the golfers of both lodges chalking up some high scores, and the meet was reckoned as one of the most successful tourneys ever staged in golf competition between the Richmond and Berkeley Elks.

This year's autumn golf tournament was played on the greens of the Berkeley Country club.

In the last spring tournament between Richmond and Berkeley, the lodges tied for first place, and the meet was decided in favor of Richmond by a throw of the dice.

M. E. Hazelton headed the committee that arranged for yesterday's tournament.

Bass Running At Antioch Span

Bass are both running and biting in the Carquinez Straits according to Harry Boyer, keeper at the Antioch bridge. Out of 125 fishermen over last week-end Boyer reported 50 limit catches.

That Boyer is in a position to speak authoratively as to the catches is explained in the fact that his bridge company is offering prizes for catches and that it is part of his duty aside from tending the bridge to appraise the catches for points for the prize.

CARDS ANNEX NATIONAL TITLE

By United Press

National League.

The St. Louis Cardinals won the National league pennant Friday by defeating Pittsburgh, 10-5, and will meet the Philadelphia Athletics in the world series starting at Philadelphia October 1.

The Cardinals still have two games left to play, but will finish one game ahead of the Cubs even if St. Louis loses both games and Chicago wins its two remaining games.

The standing of the two leaders after today's results follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	91	61	.599
Chicago	88	64	.579

A 7-run rally in the fourth inning, which started when Watkins hit a home run with two mates on base; clinched the game for St. Louis.

The Cubs came from behind to put over four runs in the seventh inning and beat Cincinnatti, 7-5. Hack Wilson hit his 54th home run of the season during the rally.

No other games were played.

American League

The Philadelphia Athletics won their 102nd victory of the American league season Friday and increased their lead over Washington to 10 games by defeating the New York Yankees, 7-6. Al Simmons' double in the ninth drove in the winning run.

Milton Gaston outpitched Irving Hadley to give the Boston Red Sox a 7-1 victory over Washington.

Ted Lyons scored his 22nd victory of the season for the seventh-place Chicago White Sox by defeating Detroit, 3-1. Lyons allowed but five hits, and blanked the Tigers until Gehringer hit a homer in the ninth.

Rain prevented the St. Louis-Cleveland game.

Alameda, Local Elks Baseball Game Called Off

Due to the inability of several Alameda Elk players to play baseball this week-end the baseball game scheduled to be played Sunday between the Alameda and local Elks has been called off. As Alameda has already won the Elks league pennant, the game would be of no importance.

Richmond will play against Oakland lodge in the final game of the season at the Oakland coast league park on the night of Oct. 3.

BEAR GRIDDERS MEET BRONCS TODAY

BERKELEY, Sept. 26.—Coach C. M. "Nibs" Price will level his heaviest artillery at the University of Santa Clara eleven Saturday afternoon at the California Memorial stadium, when the University of California football team meets the Broncos in the opening engagement of the 1930 season. The game starts at 2:30 o'clock.

During the last week it has become increasingly apparent that the Bear's mentor's plans for a line are pretty well set, but it is obvious to watchers at the practice field that the two halfback positions are giving him considerable worry, since nearly all of the material is the greenest of the green, despite an evident willingness to learn.

Ed Griffiths, stalwart quarterback, will undoubtedly be doing the signal calling for the Bears and a battle of wits should develop between him and Herbert Haakinson, ace quarterback for the visiting team.

The fullback honors go without much argument to "Rusty" Gill, the submarine line smasher, and he should give Bob Stockton, Bronco fullback, a lively afternoon of backing up the line.

Hank Schaldach, former San Mateo junior college star, is likely to get the call at one of the halfback posts, with Bill McCutcheon at the other. That's one guess, and its as good as the other possible prognostication: George Watkins, stellar punter, and Joe Hickingbotham. Other backs may be seen in action before the game is over, but certain it is that one or the other of these combinations will start, with the Schaldach-McCutcheon duo having a slight edge.

The veteran Herman Mettler and Joe Morev, high scorer of the Bronco-Cal-Aggie game last week will go on the field at the halfback position.

The Bear line is as fixed as any line could be at this stage of the season. Undoubtedly a number of second-string linemen—and even men from the third string—will get into the game, but the men of known ability will open the game. Russ Avery and "Togo" Thornton, both two-year veterans, are paired at the ends. The epidemic of injuries among the Bear tackles still leaves available two first-class players, "Fritz" Cahn and Nick Pican. Flohr and O'Daniels, for the Broncos, will keep them busy. Ted Beckett will appear at running guard, and Captain Carl Handy will take the other place.

Herman Eickmeyer, center, draws the tough assignment of the afternoon in playing opposite Al Tassi, veteran Bronco pivot man, who will probably be game captain for the visitors.

U. C. Frosh To Meet San Mateo Junior Gridders

BERKELEY, Sept. 26.—The University of California freshman football team will undergo its "baptism of fire" Saturday against a heavy, experienced squad from San Mateo Junior College. The game is scheduled for 12:30 o'clock in the California Memorial stadium as the curtain-raiser to the varsity game with Santa Clara.

Roy Riegels, captain and center of last year's team, will make his first appearance as a coach. Riegels will start his first freshman eleven and will spare no effort to get past his "opener" without defeat.

The Bear babes showed real power in handing a sound trouncing to the second varsity in scrimmage last Saturday, and have steadily improved since that time. A heavy, hard-hitting line and a fast and clever backfield may go far toward offsetting the natural handicap of inexperience in the California style of play.

Oakley Adams, triple-threat back has taken a leading role in the practice brushes thus far. Adams is a Fullerton high school product. Sherlock Hackley and John Sublett the latter a former Palo Alto high school star, are ends of no little ability. Elmo Tofanelli, although slightly injured last week, is slated to start at fullback.

JONES TO MEET HOMANS FOR TITLE

MERION CRICKET CLUB, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 26.—UP—There's life in the old championship yet.

Just when it seemed that the 34th national amateur golf tournament was about to peter out from inertia, with Bobby Jones awarded the title in hollow fashion by acclamation, two brilliant performances today thrilled a throng of 7500 at Ardmore and put the affair right back upon the sports map.

The Atlantan crushed his old rival, Jess Sweetser, 9 up and 8 to play, in one semi-final match, finishing with a blaze of birdies to wipe out an old and lingering score.

Homans Wins

Young Rene Homans, New Jersey amateur, put on one of the greatest fighting finishes in championship history to come from behind and beat Charley Seaver of Los Angeles, 1 up, winning on the home green.

In his victory over Sweetser, who gave Bobby one of the worst beatings of his golfing career at Brookline in 1922, the Atlantan was at his best. Jess beat Bob 8 and 7 in their semi-final match eight years ago, and Jones was out to better that today.

It took birdies on the last two holes of the match to accomplish Bobby's purpose, but those birdies flew straight and true to the cup like homing pigeons.

Unexpected Finish

In contrast to Jones' smashing triumph, came the gallant uphill finish which carried Gene Homans to unexpected victory.

Seaver had the Jersey man five down at lunch time, and everyone was talking of the possibility of a final match between the 18 year old Californian and the great Jones.

Then Homans started. He was trapped at the 19th, but a brilliant recovery won him a half. He won the 20th, but could not match Charley's birdie two at the short 21st Gene sank a ten foot putt for a birdie of his own at the 22nd to win and played a magnificent pitch over a tree and an explosion shot from a trap to win the 23rd.

Seaver won the 24th, and then he won no more. Gene struck a winning stride that carried him right through to the 36th and final hole in even par figures. Steadily he cut down the Californian's lead. He played golf of the Jones type sticking straight and true to par, and let the other fellow make the errors.

Homans played his afternoon round in 70, par for the championship course and the best complete round of the match play. If he could duplicate that tomorrow, he might make matters most uncomfortable for one, Mr. Jones. But that's hardly likely. Bobby is ready for the kill. The Atlantan wants this championship more for its historical possibilities than for the glory of beating the youngster from New Jersey. It means much to Bob, and he will give no quarter in the final round.

MUCH ACTION FOR GRID TEAMS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—UP—All teams of the Pacific Coast conference and the strongest college football teams outside that circuit will swing into action this week-end, one contest being a title affair.

Seven of the nine games to be played in the far west Saturday and Sunday will probably be one-sided, the exceptions being California against Santa Clara and Oregon State against Gonzaga.

The conference race will be opened when University of Southern California's powerful Trojans oppose the University of California at Los Angeles, youngest member of the 10-college group. Gridiron followers see in this game the last opportunity for Coach Howard Jones of U. S. C. to run up a high score on U. C. L. A. since the Bruins have been building for a strong team in 1931.

Berkeley Game

By far the most interesting encounter of the day will be at Memorial stadium in Berkeley's foothills when Clarence "Nibs" Price throws his Golden Bears with their new shift against the Broncos of Santa Clara. There has been as much conjecture about the outcome of the game as usually surrounds an important mid-season tilt. Indicating the importance that Price has attached to his opponent he announced tonight he would start his strongest men in every position, changing previous plans.

Oregon State should beat Gonzaga but the squad will not go down to defeat without a hard battle.

Coach Jimmy Phelan of Washington regards his contest with Whitman as a good opportunity to try out every man. "Doc" Spears of Oregon holds the same attitude about his game with Willamette and "Babe" Hollingbery of Washington State should beat College of Idaho with any combination he puts on the field.

Cards Confident

Stanford's Cardinals are confident they can beat the Olympic Club of San Francisco by two touchdowns.

In other games tomorrow, Idaho will meet Montana State and Montana opposes Mt. St. Charles.

St. Mary's Gaels will make their debut here Sunday against West Coast Army, again presenting Frederick Francis Stennett, one of the main candidates of the San Francisco bay region for all-American honors.

Oregon Wins Football Game

HAYWARD FIELD, Eugene, Ore., Sept. 26.—UP—The University of Oregon triumphed over Willamette University here tonight, 51 to 0.

The majority of Oregon touchdowns were made by end runs by Kitzmiller, ace backfield man for the Webfeet, and by long marches down the field [illegible]dahl and Currie.

St. Ignatius Beats Marines

OAKLAND, Sept. 26.—UP—St. Ignatius college defeated the San Diego Marines in a football game here tonight 26 to 0. The University team outplayed their opponents from the start.

RICHMOND HIGH DEFEATED BY OAKLAND

The Richmond Union High school varsity gridders went down before the flashy attack of the Oakland High warriors by a score of 18 to 6 yesterday afternoon on the Oakland High school field.

The local heavyweights battled vainly against the clever and fast tactics of the light Oakland boys. Three cleanly-executed passes were the reasons for all three of the Oakland's touchdowns. The Oakland backfield was the greatest factor in the Oaklanders' victory. The locals fought stubbornly to stem the rapidly rising scoring of the Oakland boys, but the passing and sensational runs of the Oaklanders were the undoing of the Navy Blue and Red squad.

Richmond scored its lone touchdown in the third quarter. A punt by Oakland was blocked and recovered by Brignone, Richmond center, on Oakland's 12 yard line. Richmond's backfield took the ball for downs, and Rosano, Richmond fullback finally took the ball over the line for a touchdown.

Rosano was probably Richmond's greatest yard gainer in yesterday's battle. The Richmond boys hit hard and often, but were held on the bottom of the pile through their inability to cope with the split-second plays of their opponents.

The Richmond gridders who saw action yesterday afternoon against Oakland High school were: Carl Drexel, Passoni, Pizolli, Gerletti, and Juillerat, ends; Lilly, Ferry, Westman and Bob Drexel, tackles; Corrazzo, Baxter, and Ball, guards; Hall and Brignone, centers; Stoddard, quarterback; Baskett, Boschetti, Cox, Scarsella and Masek, halfbacks; and Rosano, fullback.

SHOW GIVEN BY WILSON P. T. A. HERE

What was pronounced as a completely successful program of entertainment was presented under the auspices of the Woodrow Wilson P. T. A. in the school auditorium last night.

An entertaining, and thoroughly enjoyable program was presented by the children of the school, and a motion picture which featured Mary Pickford in "Little Annie Rooney" featured the bill.

The entertainment was held by the P. T. A. in order to raise funds to buy musical instruments for the school orchestra.

Mrs. Gunnar Soderblum, chairman of the general committee in charge of the program, declared it is the intention of the group to provide enough instruments so that pupi's who are desirious of learning to play may do so.

The program was as follows:

Reading: Ross Hart; acrobatic dance: Betty Archibald; waltz number: Arthur and Georgina Mayer; reading: Jean Moyle; and a group clog by Betty Soderblum, Patty Brooks, Alberta Hill, Dorothy Mae Vigliena, Nancy Neville and Patty Brown.

The affair was well attended, and the committee in charge pronounced itself p'eased with the evening.

CHURCH GROUPS ENTERTAINED AT MEETING

A delightfully entertaining program was enjoyed by members of the Missionary society and Auxiliary of the First Baptist church when they met in joint session yesterday afternoon in the church hall.

After the regular routine business of the Auxiliary was disposed of the members of the two societies joined for the Mission study with "A Woman Who Witnessed a Matching" and "A Woman Who Showed Hospitality" as the study topics.

Mrs. Robert Kinney was chairman of the entertainment committee which conducted an enjoyable program.

A novel skit representing a conversation between a contribution plate and a mite box was cleverly presented by Mrs. C. H. Cook and Mrs. Lena Fowell.

Mrs. Martha Dyer and Mrs. Zeda Shappell contributed two entertaining readings followed by a vocal duet by Mrs. Esther Matterson and Mrs. Ethel Giddeon.

All joined in the singing of several well loved hymns and the enjoyable session closed with the serving of refreshments by Mrs. John Golden, Mrs. Giddeon and Mrs. Carl Longacre.

The members of the Plus Ultra class of the church are sponsoring an entertainment next Friday night in the church hall. Complete plans for the event are soon to be announced.

NUI CLUB ENTERTAINED AT MEETING

At a meeting of the Nui club held yesterday at the home of Mrs. E. Poage, 549 Tuller avenue, plans were made for sewing to be contributed to the Letterman hospital in San Francisco.

The club members spent a busy afternoon plying their needles and discussed further work to be carried out. They are next to undertake the making of quilts for their own use.

The members of the Nui club will conduct the Beacon Chapter meeting on October 18 and details for this event were furthered. There were twenty-four members present at yesterday's session.

For the benefit of St. Paul's church a whist party will be held next Friday night in the parish hall in San Pablo. Besides the door prize there will be twenty other attractive prizes. Frank Kruetzen is general chairman. An invitation is extended to the public.

LUTHER LEAGUE ENTERTAINS AT 'RADIO PARTY'

In the radio broadcasting station KGLC an entertaining program was presented by members of the Happy-Go-Lucky Hour.

The hall of the Grace Lutheran church was the setting for the novel affair with members of the Luther League representing those well known radio favorites who presented their clever numbers before a crowd of more than 150 people.

"Amos 'n Andy" opened the entertainment with an argument as to just who was the most capable of carrying the responsibility as head of their large "open air taxi" concern. Robert Drexel as Amos and Steve Rusich as Andy presented perfect characterizations of those amusing colored gentlemen.

C. H. Bastin conducted his "Haywire orchestra in true "Mac" style.

A vocal solo followed by Mrs. O. A. Borgstrum and Mrs. Mattie Baldwin contributed with a piano solo.

One of the delightful numbers of the program was the presentation of "The Wedding of the Painted Dolls," sung by Mary and Martha Baldwin and enacted by Dorothy Frerichs, as the charming bride Bowen cleverly portraying the groom with the part of the minister taken by Miss Anita Stickler. Ruth Bastin was the little girl who lost her doll.

Banjo solos were presented by Kenneth and Kelliher, and two entertaining readings were contributed by Mrs. Mattie Newsom.

Haro'd Felciano, that boy wonder was one of the highlights on the program with his accordian selections.

"Cecil" was out of a job last night, and with the aid of "Sally" he attempted to write a letter to the Standard Oil company requesting work. This charming team was ably represented by Roslin Binkley as "Cecil" and Eva Sorenson in the part of the lisping "Sally".

Earl Sorenson supplied the part of "Harmonica Harry" without whom the program would not have been complete.

One of the cleverest and best received numbers of the entertainment was a "mellow drama" "The Rescue of Nellie Bly." This brilliant little three act playlet was written and directed by Sigrid Merritt whose talent was highly applauded for the amusing production.

The part of Nellie Bly was taken by Miss Merritt with Walter Miller as her handsome rescuer. The role of the menacing villian was portrayed by Phillip Johnson with Irving Wright as the aged father.

Even those exclusive entertainers, Fanchon and Marco were present at this elaborate broadcast in the persons of Robert Drexel and Henry Gillan.

Louis Borgstrom was the snappy announcer and master of ceremonies with the entire program under the direction of the Luther League president. Carl Johnson who deserves a great deal of credit for his successful production.

Ethel Borgstrom was pianist for the evening.

Rev. Guy L. Hudson supervises the league and is responsible for much of its success. Other entertainments are anticipated by the members due to the great success of this production.

Douglas Bacon, associate patron and Grace Thompson, associate matron, advanced to the offices of worthy patron and worthy matron respectively, and presided over the meeting.

Other officers advanced were: Myrtle MacTaggert to associate matron and Eulabelle Martinsen to conductress.

The new officers exemplified the ritualistic work in a competent manner, in preparation for assuming the higher offices next term.

At the close of the initiation ceremonies, a duet was sung by Ruth MacKenzie and Mrs. B. Parker, accompanied by Mrs. Ione Booth, district deputy, and Marion and Peggy Bennett offered a song and dance number.

Mrs. Pearl Johnson was general chairman of the evening, and her committee received the plaudits of the entire gathering for the delightful manner in which the evening was carried off, and for the delicious banquet which was served at the close of the entertainment.

The banquet room and tables were a masterpiece of decoration pink, lavender and yellow forming the color scheme, which was superbly carried out.

Attempt Made To Rob Air Mail

LAS VAGAS, Sept. 26.—UP—An attempt to rob the airmail failed here tonight when bandits in two automobiles were put to rout after exchanging fire with Charles Mosbach, holder of a contract to transport pouches between Las Vagas and the airport.

Mosbach was returning with two pouches, one of them containing registered mail when the bandit in ambush stopped his automobile with a burst of shots.

Mosbach drew his revolver and returned the fire. One bandit was wounded and was dragged to the automobiles in which the bandits fled. Mosbach was cut by flying windshield glass.

Early Grecian Vases Acquired By Penn Museum

PHILADELPHIA.—Four early Grecian vases, two of which probably were used by some flapper 2800 years ago to store her rouge and l[illegible]in, have been acquired by th[illegible]ersity of Pennsylvania museum here.

According to H. F. Jayne, director of the museum, the relics date back to the eighth century B. C. and cannot be duplicated in any museum in this country and few abroad. They are what the Greeks called "pyxides," or covered jars for cosmetics, made of carefully prepared red clay on which designs are painted in lustrous black.

"The comparatively rare features of the pyides" Jayne stated, "is the groups of rude'y modeled horses that are mounted on the cover of each pyvis to form a handle. The design is most interesting and belongs to the period of Greek vase painting, known from the regularity of pattern employed as the geometric.

"The particular relics acquired by the museum are Dipylon vases, the name usually given to Attic geometric vases from the fact that most of them were found in the cemetery in front of the gates Dipylon, outside of Athens, and exemplify to the highest degree the best development of the geometric style.

"There is an even covering on the surface of the vases that gives them a carpet like appearance and this textile expression is strengthened by the geometry of the ornamentation. The swastika, or ancient symbol of good luck, known all over the ancient world, is much in evidence and contributes enormously to the severity of line which is so important a factor in classical vase painting.

"Two drinking cups ornamented with the same type design and modeled with highly effective simplicity complete the museum's most recent acquisitions in the Mediterranean section."

COOPER STARS IN WAR FILM AT FOX

Gary Cooper, hero of "The Virginian" and "The Texan" becomes a gallant captain in the U. S. Engineers in "A Man From Wyoming" which opens at the Fox-California theater today.

"A Man From Wyoming" is the story of he war advenures of a oung Westerner who enlists at he first bugle call and serves valantly in the great conflict in France.

During a particularly stiff engagement June Collyer a society girl ambulance-driver craving thrills makes her way to the front "A. W. O. L. She wanders into Cooper's territory and draws shellfire. He is forced to arrest her. He treats her roughly but he cannot help admiring her grit. She is fascinated by his stern manliness and the result of their friendship is marriage in a small French village back of the lines.

They spend three happy days together in happy abandon. But he is ordered back to the trenches again and they part. Later on June reads a report which lists Cooper as among those killed in an engagement with the enemy.

Overwhelmed by the news she plunges into an orgy of wild parties. Meanwhile Cooper not killed but badly wounded is sent to the base hospital where June is an attachee. He is shocked to learn of her scandalous behavior. She tells him in vain that she had been tring to forget the tragedy of the false news of his death. But he does not believe her. Their differences lead to a bitter argument but after a series of exciting events they are brought together finally in a happy reunion.

The story was written by Albert Shelby LeVino and John A. Weaver. Rowland V. Lee who served on five fronts during the war is the director. He made George Bancroft's "Ladies Love Brutes" "Barbed Wire" and a number of other film sucesses.

In the cast with Cooper and Miss Collyer are Regis Toomey, Morgan Farley, E. H. Calvert and William B. Davidson.

Call

RAMON NOVARRO and Renee Adoree in the "Call of the Flesh," which is to be shown at the Fox-California.

NOVARRO WILL SING IN FILM

When Ramon Novarro enacted an opera star in his newest picture, "Call of the Flesh," he had for his director a close friend of his greatest idol.

All his life the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star has admired and revered the late Enrico Caruso, king of dramatic tenors, and, in the picture, he sings the arioso from "Pagliacci," considered Caruso's masterpiece on the stage. Charles Brabin, who directed the Novarro picture, was for many years a friend of Caruso.

They first met in New York when Brabin was a stage actor and Caruso was just rising to his highest operatic fame. Often they used to sit in Caruso's dressing room and discuss drama and music. During the picture many little touches in the operatic sequences were born of Brabin's intimacy with the singer.

The new picture, which will come tomorrow to the Fox California Theatre, is a vivid drama of the romance and rise to fame of a young Spanish opera singer. It is laid in Seville and Madrid. Dorothy Jordan, who played opposite Novarro in "Devil May Care" and "In Gay Madrid" appears again as his heroine, and the cast includes Ernest Torrence, Renee Adoree, Nance O'Neil, Russell Hopton and Mathilde Comont.

Novarro sings a number of original songs as well as several operatic numbers, heard in the opera sequences of the production. For years Novarro has studied for grand opera, but this is the first time he has sung operatic numbers for the public. He has been slated to make a grand opera debut in Berlin, but illness delayed this until a later season, hence his first operatic appearance is now via the talking screen.

The new play is an original by Dorothy Farnum, with dialogue by John Colton, of "Rain" and "Shanghai Gesture" fame. Herbert Stothart and Clifford Grey, composers of "The Rogue Song" wrote many of Novarro's song numbers.

Too Much 'Class' Jails Young Men

SAN FRANCISCO. — Salvatore Del Crosse sang "California Here I Come—First Class" so loudly on his way here from Hartford, Conn., that his fellow passengers became suspicious, and notified authorities. The youth hummed a different tune in jail, where he was held on charges of looting his grandfather's bureau drawer of $1000. Other passengers on his train told police he was so free with his money they felt sure something was wrong.

PAINFUL CORNS

Loosen—Lift Out

A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Stickel) instantly soothes the corn, callous or wart, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" excites the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root so that it drops out and leaves no trace of scar or soreness.

You will also find "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" a boon for sore, tired or perspiring feet.

"Corn Fly" for corns, 35c, "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" 25c, and "Corn Fly Bunion Remedy" 50c, (all three—$1.10 value—for $1.00), are sold under a positive money-back guarantee by Hi-Gene Co., Newark, N. J., or local druggist.

Essay Contest To Be Held By High Schools

BERKELEY, Sept. 26. — More than one thousand high school students in all parts of the state are competing in an essay contest sponsored by the Deputations Committee of the Associated Students of the University of California. This is the seventh such contest that has been arranged by the University students.

"What I Expect from College" is the title of the essays that are being written for the competition, which will close in approximately one month. The purpose of the contest is to promote good feeling between the high schools of California and the University, according to Gilbert S. McKaye, chairman of the Deputations Committee.

Essays are to be sent to the committee, and will be judged by a committee named by the Associated Students. To the high school in which the winner is registered will go a large silver trophy cup; the winner receives a trip to Berkeley, where he is entertained for a week at fraternity houses, is shown the activities of the campus and is presented with a ticket to the Big Game in California Memorial Stadium between the University of California and Stanford.

Wind Testing Method Told At Session

BERKELEY, Sept. 24—A method of determining the wind pressure that must be withstood by large chimneys or smokestacks was outlined before the National Academy of Sciences at the first session ever held in the West, on the campus of the University of California, recently.

The report was prepared by Hugh L. Dryden and George C. Hill of the United States Bureau of Standards, on the basis of data secured from laboratory experiments and from measurements made on an experimental chimney 10 feet in diameter and 30 feet high, erected on the roof of the west building of the Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C.

In outlining the problem of computing wind pressure on large chimneys before their construction in order to have a sufficient factor of safety without waste, the Bureau of Standards men said: "The practical problem of determining the wind pressure to be used in the design of a large chimney requires for its solution the determination of the variation of the wind pressure on a cylinder with the size of the cylinder and the speed of the wind. This task is a scientific problem, since experiments on the largest cylinders, eight to 12 inches in diameter, which can be used in experimental wind tunnels show that the wind pressure on a large cylinder is very much less than that which would be obtained by increasing the pressure on a small cylinder in the ratio of the exposed areas."

To overcome this difficulty an experimental chimney was built, and direct tests made of the wind pressureas shown by the tendency of the chimney to sway. These data were then compared with the theoretical results obtained from laboratory work on smaller stacks.

They found that the wind pressure at a given wind speed is a function of the ratio of the height of the chimney to its diameter and possibly, also, of the roughness of its surface; that the small stack results cannot be used for computations on large stacks without certain allowances; and that a wind pressure of 20 pounds per square feet of area is a safe estimate for winds of 100 miles an hour maximum in chimneys with exposed height of 10 times the diameter or less.

AGING OF SOIL EXPLAINED IN REPORT

DAVIS, Sept. 26,—Soils age change from year to year, are young and old, says Dr. Alfred Smith, assistant professor of soil technology in the University of California College of Agriculture. The aging of soils, he says, depends upon many factors.

Particularly is the aging of soils dependent upon the character of the parent material, which in most cases is a type of rock or a combination of rock types. Another factor is climate, with such elements as rainfall, humidity, wind, etc. Temperature, too affects the aging of soil; in California the range of temperature is great in comparative short distances.

The effect of time in modifying soils can only be measured by the character of the soil profile, which is a cross section of the soil. As soils age the character of both the surface and subsoil change. The surface soil becomes modified by accumulations of organic matter or may become leached. This latter condition is hastened where we supplement the rainfall by irrigation water.

The subsoils become modified by the addition of much of the suspended material removed from the surface soils which process is sometimes referred to as clay migration. We have then developed dense clay pans in the subsoils. Where the rainfall is low, relatively little leaching can take place as the soluble materials which have been dissolved out of the surface soils are precipitated in the subsoils and act as cements producing a rock-like cemented hardpan.

Young Soils Best

Young soils are those that are deep and pervious to rainfall or irrigation waters and under suitable soil moisture conditions can support a good growth of deep rooted plants; while o'd scils with dense claypans or hardpans in general support only shallow rooted crops.

The pioneer in the study of California soils, Dr. E. W. Hilgard, emphasized 40 years ago that a good farmer will examine the subsoil to a depth of two feet before investing in land; but more than this is necessary, he stated, in California. For deep rooted crops, our soils should be examined with some form of soil auger to depths of five or more feet in order to ascertain if there is sufficient depth and whether time has produced a mature or old soil having a hardpan in the subsoil. Soils that are only two feet deep are worth approximately one-third the value of those that are six or more feet deep, when they are irrigated and planted to deep rooted crops.

Many Types of Soil

On any particular farm there is not just one type of soil condition. Nature provides on each farm variable soils, some of which age relatively rapidly and others slowly. When man steps into the picture and uses the soil as a medium of plant growth he may by his efforts hasten or retard the aging of the soil.

The surface of virgin soils, that is those in native grass or timber, is usually loose, friable and readily takes the rainwater, and in these one will usually find small channels produced by the activities of living matter such as worms.

150 Hurt As Bleachers Fall

COLUMBUS, Sept. 26. —UP—Bleachers containing 2600 spectators at a high school football game collapsed tonight bringing injuries to between 75 and 150 persons.

The wooden stands gave way and fell backwards just as the fans rose to their feet at the end of the first half in a night game between Columbus Central High school and Cheney High school in Youngstown, Ohio.

The visiting team was ahead, 7 to 0, at the half. The crowds yells for a turn in football fortune turned to cries of terror as the bleachers toppled. Between 35 and 40 persons were suffering severely enough to necessitate their removal to hospitals. One woman's back was broken.

The stand had been approved this year by the city engineer.

MANY HORSES KILLED BY EPIDEMIC

BERKELEY, Sept. 26. — Heavy losses among horses in some parts of the state, particularly in the San Joaquin valley, have been caused by Borna disease, or enzootic encephalomyelitis. According to Dr. Karl F. Meyer, director of the Hooper Foundation for Medical Research in the University of California, all indications point to this disease; no trace of botulism, forage poisoning of cerebro spinal meningitis has been found.

Dr. J. C. Geiger, professor of epidemiology at the Hooper Foundation, recently observed sick horses at various places in the San Joaquin valley and made autopsies on some typical cases. Autopsies also have been made by the Veterinary Science Division of the university at Berkeley.

Not a New Disease

This disease has doubtless prevailed at certain times among horses in many parts of the United States, and has been called by many misleading names, it is reported at the Hooper Foundation. Borna disease is caused by a filterable virus and methods of positive diagnosis have been developed. The only way by which the virus is known to be discharged from the body is by saliva and nasal secretions. It is probable that the feces also may contain the virus as a result of swallowed saliva.

The disease has been transmitted under experimental conditions by inoculation and by feeding. Under natural conditions horses become infected by direct contact, by feed or water, or by the inhalation of dust contaminated with the discharge of sick animals. The disease has also been reported in sheep and cattle and deer have been observed to suffer from a similar disease.

Recommendations Are Given

The following recommendations to veterinarians are given by the University of California:

"Report all cases to Dr. J. P. Iverson, chief of the division of animal industry, state department of agriculture, Sacramento. Do not send specimens direct to the Hooper Foundation or to the division of veterinary science.

"The most hopeful prophylactic procedures consist in the complete isolation of horses so far as possible. Farmers should be advised to keep their horses from access to neighboring animals or to feed or water which might be contaminated with animal discharges.

Botulinus Antitoxin Not Advised

"Botulinus antitoxin is not considered by the university veterinarians to be of specific value. Any beneficial effects obtained from its use would probably also have been secured by the use of normal horse serum.

"Since a majority of horses are relatively resistant to natural infection with Borna virus, it would seem that the use of large doses of pooled serum from a number of normal horses would be justified. The dosage should be large, for prophylaxis three subcutaneous doses of 100 cubic centimeters each at intervals of four to ten days; for therapeutic purposes five times that amount intravenously, repeated daily. The use of serum from recovered cases has been recommended and probably has values not possessed by other serums. Great caution must be used not to transmit the disease in this manner and it would be dangerous to use untested serums from recovered cases.

Prevention Of Fire Stressed By Committee

Education in fire prevention for those who are willing to be educated and strict law enforcement for those who are not willing to learn is the policy guiding the foresters in their efforts to protect the timber and watersheds of California, according to a statement by M. B. Pratt, state forester, received by the California State Automobile association. Pratt is also chairman of the stop forest fires committee of California.

"Silly time is here—cigarettes are being thrown from automobiles," said Pratt. "The green hills have changed to brown, yet many motorists go on throwing burning matches and tobacco to imperil our fields and forests. They fail to realize that the practice, while safe in winter when the roads are wet and the grass green, constitutes a great menace to the natural resources of California during the dry season.

"Foresters have repeatedly pointed out the great loss due to fires caused in this way. The combined federal and state report for 1929 showed that smokers headed the list of fire causes in California with responsibility for 1631 out of a total of 4803 fires. A review of the records since 1922, when careless smoking was first segregated from the other causes of fires in this state, show that there has been an increase of 238 percent in this class of fires.

"The California legislature was one of the first to make it unlawful to throw burning material from moving vehicles. Judging from the unprecedented fire season in the eastern states this year, the predominant cause of which was traceable to smokers, other states will follow California's lead in this regard.

"Many people can not be educated except with drastic measures and for that purpose the state and nation have provided fire laws and regulations with teeth in them and rangers with plenty of backbone to enforce them.

"Fire prevention pertains just as much to brush as to timber areas, since both are invaluable for watershed purposes. The prosperity of the state is dependent upon its water supply, which is conserved through the cover in the mountain country."

NON RESIDENTS TOLD TO GET CAR PERMITS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—Non-resident motorists visiting California were urged today to avail themselves of the extremely liberal registration provisions of the California law in a bulletin issued by Frank G. Snook, chief of the division of motor vehicles.

Such motorists were asked to comply with the California regulations by securing a non-resident permit within ten days after entering the state.

This permit entitles the visitor to operate his vehicle in California six months without obtaining a license, Snook said.

However, if the non-resident does not secure the permit he must apply for a California license within thirty days or be compelled to pay double for it in accordance with Section 81 of the Motor Vehicle Act.

Unless the non-resident has registered his vehicle in another state or country and in his own name he is not entitled to a California non-resident permit and the license fee is due as soon as the vehicle is operated.

Snook cited the following as among the most important rules for non-resident motorists to remember in registering their vehicles here:

Certificates of title will be accepted as evidence of ownership from Arizona, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Maryland, New Mexico, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

If the state from which the motorist comes does not issue a certificate of title, the division will accept the certificate of registration and notarized bill of sale, the certificate of registration and original lease contract showing same to have been paid in full or the certificate of registration and duplicate lease contract carrying the name of the legal owner and verification by wire of the legal ownership.

Verification of engine numbers by a duly accredited employe of the division must accompany the application for license.

All papers presented for registration, pertaining to title, will be retained by the division as evidence of ownership.

Non-residents over 16 years of age, who have been licensed to drive in their own states may drive in California for six months without taking the regular examination required. Non-residents who have not been licensed in their home states, however, must make application for a California operator's license within thirty days.

No charge is made for service by the division or any of its offices.

Non-residents whose permits expire in December are not required to secure a California license until January 1st.

NEW YORK G.O.P. DECLARES "WET"

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 26.—UP—The Republican party in New York state became officially an advocate of repeal of the prohibition laws today and nominated Charles H. Tuttle, recent United States attorney from New York, as its candidate for governor.

Cabel Baumes, author of the criminal code known as the Baumes law which provides drastic penalties for habitual offenders, was named the party's candidate for lieutenant governor.

The nominations and the declaration against prohibition were made in the state convention here, which in the two days of its life, worked something of a metamophosis in the party. In addition to changing the party from dry to wet the convention stirred up more enthusiasm than any Republican gathering in years. It took a leaf from the book of the democratic party and with trumpet and drum blew and beat up a clamor that was reminiscent of the scenes in which heretofore democrats have specialized.

Repeal Asked

Not only did the republicans came out for repeal of the prohibition law, but realizing that the democrats quite possible would do the same, leaving no issue, they turned militantly on the recent exposure of irrigularities in New York courts and offical life. They laid the blame at the door of the democratic administration of state affairs and pronounced official mis conduct the outstanding issue of the campaign.

All this was done and rumors that the drys, defeated in their efforts to maintain control of the party's prohibition policy, wou'd bolt and put a ticket of their own in the field. But when the test came —the nomination of Tuttle—wets and drys alike forgot differences, rallied in a demonstration which included every county delegation without exception, and nomintted the New York federal prosecutor on the first ballot.

Tuttle, who was waiting nearby, came into the hall immediately and amid wild greetings and addressed the convention. He appealed for harmony and was promised it. He attacked the administration of justice in New York city where recent disclosures have indicated the use of money in bringing about judicial appointments.

The plank demanding repeal of the prohibition law, which was drawn and approved by the resolutions committee at an all night session and adopted by a vote of 733 to 258 when submitted to the convention, reviews the republican record on prohibition in this state.

Held Evil

"The good in national prohibition lies in its outlawing of the saloon and the saloon system and its grant to congress of power to cooperate internally within states that maintain a prohibition system and to protect such states from importation of liquor from without. On the other hand, the evil in national prohibition lies largely in the compulsion sought to be placed upon states which do not desire the prohibition system. We favor the restortation to each state of the authority to deal with the liquor probley in accordance with the wishes of its citizens.

"To this end we favor the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment providing that simultaneously and as part of the new amendment a provision is adopted outlawing and forbidding everywhere in the United States the saloon system and its equivalent, the private traffic in intoxicating beverages for private profit and, fourther, guaranteeing federal cooperation and assistance to states which have prohibition in whole or in part."

Ricci Adoptment Upheld By Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—UP—The state supreme court approved of Miss Elizabeth Lackey, Berkeley music teacher, as custodian of Ruggiero Ricci, 12, and his brother, Giorgio, 10, nationally known violin players in an opinion handed down here late today.

The court denied a petition from the boys' parents in which a rehearing of a previous decision adverse to them was requested.

Custody of the young virtuosos was granted to Miss Laikey by the Alameda county superior court three years ago.

EARLY DAYS OF MOTORING TOLD

The extent of the changes which have taken place in the motor traffic regulations since the motor car first began to come into general use are illustrated by a review of the early day traffic laws and ordinances forming a part of the archives of the California State Automobile association.

Twenty-five years ago, for example, there was a general disposition on the part of municipal authorities throughout the state to oppose raising the speed limit to more than eight miles an hour within city boundaries. Among the objections cited was the charge that automobiles frightened the horses and consequently were a menace to lives and property.

The first "tour book" printed by the motorists' organization in 1912 quoted the general state law as limiting speed to twenty miles an hour in the open country, fifteen miles an hour in country towns, ten miles in crowded cities, and four miles on approaching curves, bridges and sharp descents.

Speed restrictions varied greatly between one locality and another, resulting in a great amount of confusion and difficulty for motorists who ventured upon a tour of any considerable distance.

Bakersfield was one of the cities enforcing a ten-mile limit in all parts of the city. Fresno had a stringent local ordinance limiting the speed to eight miles in congested districts, six miles at crossings, and fifteen miles in other sections of the city.

Sacramento and Santa Cruz had what were then considered liberal regulations, permitting 15 miles an hour with a requirement to go "slow at crossings." In Los Angeles the limit was 12 miles in the business district and 20 miles elsewhere.

San Francisco fixed the limit in the business district at ten miles, and 15 miles in other sections. The limit in Oakland was ten miles in the business district, six miles at crossings and 18 miles elsewhere. San Jose had the same limits, except that eight miles was permitted at crossings.

BUYERS WARNED TO GET PINK SLIPS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—Prospective purchasers of motor vehicles were urged today by the Division of Motor Vehicles to guard themselves against fraud by remembering that the State of California issues a certificate of title (pink slip) which should be demanded by the purchaser if the car is sold to him by an individual.

Frequently, the Division's warning stated, the purchaser of the car pays a large sum to the individual selling it in the mistaken belief that he is to become the legal owner but fails to demand the certificate of title.

Too late he discovers he has been "bilked" because the seller has disappeared. He then learns the seller was not the legal owner of the car but that some other person or firm has a prior claim.

The division's warning stated the pink certificate constitutes the sole evidence of ownership and is as indispensible as a deed to a piece of real estate.

In the event the purchaser buys his car from a registered new or used car dealer and pays cash or its equivalent, the dealer is required to report the sale to the division and the purchaser should receive his certificate of title (pink slip) within 15 days after the deal has been consummated. If he does not receive it, he should notify the division, giving the license and motor number of the car he purchased.

Upon purchasing a car from an individual who is the legal owner the purchaser should receive the pink slip from the seller properly signed in the spaces provided. He should send this and the certificate of registration at once to the division together with a fee of $1 to cover the transfer. New certificates will then be issued and returned to him.

"The certificate of title is your protection" said the division's warning. "Demand it when you purchase a car and if the seller does not have it and is not the legal owner, get in touch with the legal owner and find out the status of the vehicle before completing the deal."

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

What Is a Woman's Ideal Income?

THE swiftly cynical answer to the question-heading of this column is, of course: "Just as much as she can squeeze out of the nearest and easiest male." Now that we've beaten some of our men readers to it, let us add that we present the topic as an outlet neither for cynicism nor for an abstract essay, but as the offshoot of an interesting discussion in the London Daily Herald.

MARGUERITE MOORS MARSHALL

That paper has just queried some of its most distinguished readers as to the ideal income (sex of recipient not specified).

The minimum ideal, according to Edgar Wallace, quantitative champion of detective story writers, is a pound a day—about $5, or $1,825 a year.

Lady Duff Gordon, dear soul, doesn't see how anybody can live happily on less than $30,000 ($6,000) a year—that, our cynical readers will again rise to remark, is the woman of it.

Bernard Shaw, in whose private brand of socialism equality of income plays a leading part, thinks that $2,000 (£400) a year ought to be satisfactory, and, says the Nation, "it is interesting to note that this figure or one very near it was considered a sufficient sum by the majority of the contributors. Two thousand dollars to $2,500 a year, that is, seemed to these persons—nearly all of whom have much more—as the ideal sum for all reasonable human needs."

IS IT the ideal income from a woman's point of view? If not, what is—and why? We'd like to hear from women readers with ideas as to how much money every year would make them really comfortable and happy.

The average woman's ideal income, it seems to us, must meet two requirements:

(1) It must be large enough to take care of one or more persons whom she loves, as well as herself.

(2) It must promise lifelong security.

With increasing infrequency nowadays does a woman live to herself alone, in the matter of spending money. So often she has the responsibility of dependents—of elderly parents unable to work, of younger sisters and brothers, even of nephews and nieces whom she is trying to educate. The married woman worker, as has been proved repeatedly in researches by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, is usually working for somebody besides herself—using her income to give her children a better home and education, or to support some needy relative.

Despite extravagant exceptions, it seems to us that most women can get along reasonably well on smaller incomes than would satisfy men. Women have been trained for generations in petty economies. The business girl, for example, does her laundry work and takes care of her apartment—whereas a man, earning no more, automatically pays some woman for doing these jobs for him. Also, he is inclined to be more expensively self-indulgent than a woman in what he eats, drinks and smokes.

What tortures the woman with an income below her ideal is not her personal deprivations but the pain of having to see her children "go without things." With all deference to the distinguished contributors to the London Daily Herald, you cannot put children through college on the "ideal sum" of $2,000 to $2,500 a year for your entire income!

A woman, moreover, has a vivid imagination about the future. No income can seem ideal to her unless she be sure that it will last as long as she—will keep her definitely out of the pitiful "aged female dependent" class.

SUPPOSE, however, that a woman has no dependents and has a guarantee of security for her income. How much does she want? We confess that we're one woman who, in these circumstances, could be perfectly happy on an annual income ranging from $1,000 to $5,000 a year.

With the maximum, we would spend two or three winter months in a New York or London hotel and see all the new plays. Also, we'd buy more books and travel more miles than if we had only $1,000 a year.

Even that minimum, nevertheless, would give us an eminently satisfactory life on an island off the coast of Maine, or in English Cornwall or Hampshire. One can live in such places simply and cheaply, yet with all vital needs satisfied. We honestly do not want the things that cost much money—cars and radios and elaborate frocks.

What we do want is a small house, with good plain food and a few comfortable clothes; books and a chance to write poetry; beauty of the outdoor world—the beauty without money and without price and without the responsibility of beautiful indoor possessions. When we see the feminine slaves to exquisite furniture, silver, objets d'art—slaves to buying them, guarding them, keeping them dusted and polished—all we can think of is the old hymn—

"The heathen in his blindness
Bows down to wood and stor"

Seriously, we're glad that any woman may find happiness in such ways—only our way is different, and it costs much less.

The truest, most charming expression of the sort of life which seems to us ideal, and which can be bought by a woman for even as little as $1,000 a year, is contained in the following paragraphs from that most fascinating and popular of recent biographies, The Story of San Michele, by Dr. Axel Munthe. The world-famous Swedish physician writes:

"The gods sell all things at a fair price, said an old poet. He might have added that they sell their best goods at the cheapest rate. All that is really useful to us can be bought for little money, it is only the superfluous that is put up for sale at a high price. All that is really beautiful is not put up for sale at all but is offered us as a gift by the immortal gods. We are allowed to watch the sun rise and set, the clouds sailing along in the sky, the forests and the fields, the glorious sea, all without spending a penny. The birds sing to us for nothing, the wild flowers we may pick as we are walking along by the roadside.

"There is no entrance fee to the starlit hall of the Night. The poor man sleeps better than the rich man. Simple food tastes in the long run better than food from Ritz. Contentment and peace of mind thrive better in a small country cottage than in the stately palace in a town. A few friends, a few books, indeed a very few, and a dog is all you need to have about you as long as you have yourself. But you should live in the country. The first town was planned by the Devil, that is why God wanted to destroy the tower of Babel."

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

The housewife who seldom dines out and who has to plan dinner menus for most of the 365 days a year often finds herself getting into a rut. Over and over she serves the same things because she just can't think of anything else. Different ways of preparing foods, flavory sauces and unusual garnishes rarely occur to her because, while she realizes that her meals are becoming monotonous, she rarely gets away from them long enough to get new ideas.

KAREN HOLLIS

This rut isn't tenanted entirely by housewives. In a school I attended we always knew what day of the week it was by what we had for dinner. Monday night was pot roast with escalloped tomatoes. Tuesday night was broiled whitefish with green beans and cucumber salad. Wednesday night was baked ham with spinach and sweet potatoes and Thursday was breaded veal cutlet with green peas and creamed potatoes. Even though the food was well cooked and attractively served, the inevitable appearance of just what we expected was so deadly that I haven't forgotten one detail of those dinners.

Most women are fairly ingenious about planning desserts and salads that are varied. It is in preparing meats and fish, particularly the latter, that they are apt to follow the simplest course and simply broil them or bake them without any heightening flavors.

This is a pity, and I often wish every housewife could have a culinary vacation during which she would dine every night at some cafe famous for tantalizingly good food. She would come home bursting with new ideas. I've known people to shudder at the suggestion of cooking fish with almonds, but not after they have eaten soft shell crabs amandine, or filet of sole amandine. These are indescribably delicious.

Adapting the cooking routine of cafe chefs to the equipment of an average home means discarding certain long processes that few home cooks would tolerate. It is a simple matter for a cafe chef to demand a cup of court bouillon, for instance, for his assistants have it all prepared for him. Few housewives will go to the trouble of making it for themselves. The recipe I am going to give you, therefore, is very much simplified, but I am sure you will find the result just as good as the offerings of famous chefs.

FILET OF SOLE AMANDINE

4 filets of sole
½ teaspoonful salt
Dash of white pepper
4 tablespoonsful butter
2 tablespoonsful lemon juice.
½ cup blanched almonds
3 sprigs of parsley, chopped fine

Put water to one-half inch in depth in a skillet and bring to a boil. Place the filets in the water carefully, reduce the heat to the simmering point and poach the fish for ten minutes. Remove them to a baking dish, spread lightly with butter, season with salt and pepper, and put them under the broiler flame to brown lightly. Meanwhile prepare a sauce by melting butter and cooking chopped, blanched almonds in it for three or four minutes. The almonds should be browned. Add lemon juice and about one-half cup of the liquor in which the fish was cooked. Pour over the fish, sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve very hot.

A Blouse Era Is Now Upon Us

TUCK-IN BLOUSE OF SATIN WITH FRENCH REVOLUTION COLLAR.

SOMEHOW a blouse appeals tremendously to the imagination. It lends itself to combinations and reassembling with so much real zeal. And the blouse today has reached an acme of development which gives it a recognized place in the wardrobes of smartly-dressed women.

By a blouse I mean a classic blouse that reaches the waistline and keeps its place as such. For the time being I will restrain myself and leave tunics alone. In my enthusiasm I have said a good deal about them, and for the moment at least they can rest on their laurels. Now we take up a blouse to be worn with a suit and, since the suit is the thing of the day, the blouse to go with it becomes a most important consideration.

Those of you who remember blouses when they were the keynote of style can know only the dress satisfaction that they carry with them. They are always fresh, can always be new, are really the refurbishings of costuming, the like of which is not known in any one-piece dress era.

* * *

Formal Sheerness

FOR strictly formal, dressy wear, with the more elaborate suits, there are the very thin organdy and batiste blouses. They stand out as being terribly smart. They are hand done and expensive but they mark a suit as standing in the front ranks of fashion.

A batiste blouse embroidered all over in tiny, cut-out motifs is one of the most interesting. It is shirred at the front and collared charmingly, being quite simple in its effect and allowing the exquisite quality of the material to carry the style and charm, which it does most satisfactorily.

A blouse of this type is best this season when it is pure white, perhaps because most of the handsomer suits are of very dark, rich looking fabrics. You can see it worn quite formally with a suit of stiff Lyons velvet, giving the smartest appearance possible.

Then there are the blouses of white organdy, one of which is shown here. They have hand tucks, tiny rows of hand embroidery and flatly pleated ruffllings with edges of real lace added. None of this expensive working is at all conspicuous, but it is elegant in the extreme and suitable for wear with the finest of well-made suits.

* * *

For More Tailored Suits

SCHIAPPERELLI has designed some of the best tailored blouses of the new season—or rather blouses to go with tailored suits. I am showing one that is outstanding here with its peplum well fitted and plain, being only in the front, the back bloused and ending at the waistline. Its softly rolled collar makes one of those becoming lines that help a suit enormously, and when made of white satin it helps a black or a dark brown suit. It has a French Revolution look about it and is good looking, too, when the coat is removed, which is something.

EYELET EMBROIDERED BATISTE MAKES A BLOUSE FOR DRESS WEAR.

A blouse that ties at the side, made of flat crepe, has a good deal to recommend it. In the first place it tones down a larger figure, and then its draped cowl neck is most becoming, harmonizing with the suit's collar line. The waistline is relieved by the draping—not that unrelenting belt—and this effect is much to be desired by the older woman or one whose figure will not be pinched down to Victorian proportions.

When a blouse of the new fashion bucks in it does so in a special way.

ONE OF THE NEW ORGANDY BLOUSES WITH ALENCON LACE.

That is, the skirt's waistline must be finished to give it a design excuse for being on the outside. There is one on this page where the skirt is scalloped and fits up over the blouse.

* * *

At Various Times of Day

FOR each occasion of the day there is a particular type and kind of blouse—the sheerness for the formal time, the silk or satin ones for shopping and street wear and then come the woolen ones for sports and outdoor occasions. The material marks the time of day.

Jersey is the plain fabric for sports blouses, and there are all sorts and kinds of new designs for this character of bodice arrangement. The one shown here is of wool net at the top and jersey for the under section, and it, too, ties in surplice fashion with a bow at the side of the waistline. It is a wonderfully smart thing for the country, to wear with tweed suits.

Then there are Jersey blouses, stitched and inserted with interestingly worked-out details, each one full of character in its own way and each determined for wear with the country style of clothes.

Silk pique is another important fabric for a tailored blouse. These are worn with tweeds and semi-dress suits. The flat revers turn back from a double-breasted front and the belt of the same material is very narrow.

Analyzing the Oily Skin

TRUE to our promise, we shall talk at length today about the oily skin, its problems and its correction.

Oily skin may be a great nuisance with its perpetual shine, its tendency to blackheads, large pores and sometimes pimples, but it has its compensation—it wears well! You see it manufactures its own lubricants and so it usually stays smooth and unlined for years and years. Another thing—it responds beautifully to intelligent care, by which is meant the right sort of food within and without.

FRANCES OLIVIER

The daily menu of the oily skinned folk should consist always of simple food, easily digested foods and largely of such items as fruits, vegetables and whole wheat bread. Fried foods, too many sweets, and starches are taboo. As to drinks, milk and water should be given the preference over the more usual beverages.

Now about the very important matter of cleansing. A dry skinned person can get along healthfully and beautifully on one bath a day, but two baths are not too many for the oily skins. Let there be a cool or tepid bath in the morning and a warm bath at night. Then the face itself requires a special sort of cleansing. As a rule, soap and water are not enough—they don't go deep enough. Almond meal is a cleanser that searches the pores and you use it just as you use soap. Also there are excellent ready prepared blackhead washes on the market, and they are extremely effective in drying out greasy skins.

Did it ever occur to you that an oily, porey skin decorated with blackheads is a lazy skin? Well it is. And one wonderful way of rousing it is to spank it, yes, with the palms of the hands. Do this two of three times a day and see what a difference it makes in the tone of the skin.

But if you want to send a cleansing new supply of blood rushing up into the lazy skin, there is nothing quite like good hard exercise. Have you ever seen an athlete with a muddy, open-pored skin? We haven't. The explanation is quite simple. Exercise not only sets the blood dancing to clear the skin but aids the digestion. And where there is a good digestion, usually there is a nice, clean, clear skin.

Early in this sermon we said something about oily skins and a perpetual shine. Your average oily skin just simply eats up the average powder. But the reaction is quite different when a specially designed powder for oily skin is used, a powder with a dry, chiffony texture, if you know what we are driving at.

At any rate, all you need do is ask a well-informed toilet goods person for a powder good for oily skin and more than likely she will overwhelm you with helpful suggestions.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

BURON FITTS SCORED BY COURT

defense based on insinuation. They knew in their hearts that they could not prove a thing.

Jerry Geisler, one of Pantages' trio of star attorneys, was jubilant at the victory which was won after so long a fight.

New Evidence

"I can say now that we have discovered new and sensational evidence which will be presented in court," he declared.

The section of the appellate court decision which held that the possible unchastity of a minor should be given a jury, was taken to mean that in a retrial Miss Pringle's past could be introduced.

The defense was blocked in every effort in the first trial to show that Miss Pringle was not virtuous in conduct prior to the alleged attack by Pantages. Judge Charles Fricke, who heard the case, refused to permit Miss Pringle's earlier moral conduct to be touched upon. He held that the only question was whether the girl, a minor, had been assaulted.

Case Reviewed

The case had its inception one sultry summer evening when the girl ran from the Pantages theater building in the heart of Los Angeles business district, screaming for aid. She said that she had been attacked by Pantages in a secluded room when she applied for booking for her act.

The showman has maintained at all times, and so testified in his trial, that he was framed. He said the girl tore her own and his clothing and then ran to the street.

Garland Biffle, an Arkansas lawbook salesman, testified in support of Pantages' story that he heard the girl talking to her manager, Nick Dunaev, in the lobby before entering the office. He testified the girl said "he'll be sorry if he doesn't come through."

Bitter Trial

The trial was a bitter one. The state charged that the defense attempted to introduce perjured testimony. The defense claimed that District Attorney Buron Fitts sought to intimidate witnesses.

After Pantages was convicted he sought release on bond. But Fitts claimed to have been warned that the showman planned to flee the coutry. For months Pantages was held in the county jail. The county physician said the prisoner was near death from heart trouble because of confinement. The appellate court permitted bond after the superior court trial judge had three times refused.

Miss Pringle has a $1,000,000 civil damage suit against Pantages awaiting trial.

Only a few months before Pantages was indicted, his wife, Lois Pantages, was accused of manslaughter after her automobile had struck a car driven by a Japanese gardener, who was killed. She was convicted, but was paroled when she made a cash settlement with his family.

RICHMOND IS NOW A WORLD PORT!

As a result of the coordinated efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and city officials, the city of Richmond is now definitely a world port, shipping and receiving cargo on a basis of complete equality with the other and older ports around San Francisco bay.

Recent decisions by outstanding shipping Conferences mean that ships will call at Richmond for cargo, not only for Pacific coast points, but for ports on the east coast, on a basis of equality with their calls at Oakland, San Francisco or Alameda.

The fight to give Richmond its place in the sun has been led by the traffic committee of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, which has had the full cooperation of official representatives of the Richmond city government, and the whole hearted assistance of delegates from many of the rail and water carriers.

No shipper will suffer any penalty as a result of shipping through Richmond. On the other hand all shippers will find it an advantage to use the modern facilities provided by Richmond, which insure good service. The spirit of community cooperation always manifest in this city provides assurance that a keen personal interest will be taken in the shippers' welfare.

Richmond has an industrial destiny. Complete shipping facilities and service are a means to this end.

The community should back the traffic committee of the Chamber of Commerce to the limit in any further negotiations that are needed to put Richmond to the fore as a great shipping and industrial city.
